May 22, 2010

Ted & Ginger hosted the TVB club and friends.

Thanks to Bruce Wagner for taking photos to capture the day.

Photos were displayed highlighting different areas of bee keeping and insights into the hives.

Scabiosa (Pin Cushion)

Many of the bees favorite flowers were found in T&G's gardens.

Trumpet Vine

Bee Balm

The Russian Sage proves to be one of their very favorites.

And....we had some true gardeners (Gayla) because they just could not help themselves but to deadhead a few flowerS.

Ted & Club President Christi Baughman presented a very informative demonstration on bee ware.

Great questions and information was shared.

Newcomers that found us on the TVB website joined us as well as neighbors from the hood.

Everyone was invited to “suit up”.

Bee suits were shared with those who had never seen inside a hive before.

A new hive was set up to be split.

One of the topics was splitting a hive.

A new queen had been ordered for the split
but the bees had already created a new queen cell themselves.

A “nuke” was brought out and the frame with the queen cell placed there with a couple other frames.

The new queen bee was placed in the hive set up for the split.

A great time
sharing the experience
of beekeeping.

Our next Quarterly
Apiary Bee Coffee
will be held this fall at the Aquaponics Fish Farm
in DeSoto.

We will also be visiting two of Christi Baughman hives located here .

See you there!!
